

Wrote the encryption code for a global security network.
Second thing people notice on my resume.

To a recruiter, nothing pops off the page like a CFA charter. One glance tells clients that your investment management skills are the gold standard of the industry. That you've mastered a three-level program whose coursework is unusually rigorous. And that your ethical standards are the highest possible. Isn't it time you joined the thousands of CFA charterholders who are writing their own ticket? To read real charterholder stories, visit www.cfainstitute.org/cfaprogram, or call +1.434.951.5499 for more information.

Next registration deadline: 15 March 2007

Three letters that speak volumes.